

The Evidence Won't Lie

Randy Swift 9/25/08

The sun comes up, the sun goes down, and so goes our existence
Each day we have is an opportunity
The choices we make, the roads that we take, become our testimony
So Lord help me be the very best that I can be...

On the day that I'm tried for being like Christ, I hope they find me guilty
One thing's for sure the evidence won't lie
The life I've led, the words I've said, will give their testimony
On that faithful day when all excuses die
One thing's for sure the evidence won't lie

There's no right way to do what's wrong, no wrong way to do right
In a world so full of darkness Lord, help me be your light
So the sheep lost in the shadows might somehow find their way
Lord help me be a witness in everything I do and say,,,
