

There's a Light

There's a light at the end of the darkness
And it shines for all the world to see
It will shine on your heart if you will let it
I was so blind, when it finally shined on me.

There is hope in that light for the hopeless
And there's a soothing balm there for pain and misery
It's as near as your faith, but sometimes,
Faith's a little hard to come by
See I was so blind, when it finally shined on me.

There's a light at the end of the darkness
So look up when you are down and try to believe
Sometimes we have to be knocked down to make us look upward
I was looking up through the bottom when it finally shined on me.
