

I'll Be In Heaven

When comes my time for leaving, there'll be no need for grieving
I've made my preparations to go.
So after separation just have a celebration
For I will be in Heaven I know...

There'll be no need for crying; there'll be no need for sighing
When Jesus calls for us we must go.
There my mansion is a waiting, where saints are congregating
And parting never more shall we know.

Up there we'll live forever, where parting comes no never
With loved ones we have know here below.
We'll sing and shout with sages through out eternal ages
I hope to meet you on that bright shore.
